SENATOR J. A. REED ROASTS WILSONISM

Home People Again Indorse Mo. Senator In Big Demonstration

Kansas City, July 5.—The League of Nations was denounced as "a league with treason and covenant of national death" by Senator James A. Reed, who returned here today from San Francisco, where he was refused a seat as delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

Senator Reed, addressing a mass-meeting in Convention Hall here, declared that he was privately assured "by grapevine messages," while his case was being heard, that the credentials committee of the convention would seat him if he would agree to keep silent in regard to the League of Nations on the convention floor. His refusal to make such an agreement was responsible for his being denied a seat, he said.

Not One-Man Country.
"If there is one lesson that this country needs to learn," Senator Reed said in his speech, "it is that this is not a one-man country. It is a 110,000,000-men country. If you would keep this republic safe you must do your own thinking. You, the people, are the source of all power. The sooner you exercise it, the better it will be for you and for the country."

Senator Reed denounced the Democratic convention at San Francisco as "a convention afflicted with international blind staggers."

Without direct personal reference to anyone, Senator Reed declared there was little difference between the doctrine of the divine right of kings and the modern doctrine that a man elected to office becomes thereby a leader, and that all who differ with him are excommunicated and outcast.

Robert Lansing, ex-secretary of state, he described as the only man whom the President took to France with him who knew anything about international law, "and about the only one who had ordinary common sense" and he asserted that Lansing's removal from office was the result of "his insistence upon warning the people of the true meaning of this league with treason, this covenant of national death."

Senator Reed declared that "this information in regard to what the league really means is going to the people and they shall know the truth."

Reed was received with enthusiasm and a resolution, passed by a rising vote, denouncing the action of the Democratic National Committee "in denying the representation to this community in refusing to seat Senator Reed," and indorsing the senator's stand, was telegraphed to the Democratic convention.

Senator Reed said that the Democratic convention on Independence Day, 1920, "is sitting, not to determine it will never surrender any American rights, but that it will surrender all the American rights it can."

Disgranted? "No"
"Let me disabuse your mind of the thought," said Senator Reed, "that I return here disgruntled or disheartened. It makes no difference what happens to the individual. I am only one of 110,000,000 individuals in the United States. It makes no difference as far as I personally am concerned, but it does make a difference when a party refuses to hear more than one side of a question. Those who are right do not fear giving their opponents a chance to speak."

"Let the men who were running this convention were afraid to have a poor thing as I am stand up and denounce the League of Nations."

Similarly Senator Reed said, the Republican convention prevented Senator Borah expressing himself on the League of Nations in the convention—"and Borah has more brains and more of the fire of Americanism in his blood than any other man in the Republican party," he added.

What People Need To Know.
"You the people, need to learn this thing," he declared, "and the men whom you elect to office need to learn it—that the public officer is your hired servant. There is no cheap demagoguery in that, no false attempt to appear humble. It is time to say to the American people that they are the bosses of this country."

Referring to the negotiations over the League of Nations, Senator Reed declared "the President came over to this country more than a year ago, bringing with him the covenant of the League of Nations. He said he didn't want it even made public or discussed because, presumably, the stupid fools of America couldn't understand it."

"I don't know why you turned out this way to honor me unless it was because I haven't run yet. I never had a boss yet, and I never will have one."

ROYAL ARCH MASONS IN INTERESTING MEET

The local Chapter, Royal Arch Masons had a splendid and well attended meeting last Friday night, when the degrees of M. E. M. and R. A., were conferred in a most impressive manner by the Degree team of the chapter masons of Central City, with Messrs. E. C. Mason acting H. P. and Mr. Robert Neel, P. S. All of the stations were creditably filled and the home chapter was delighted to have the visitors from the metropolis of the County just across the Green River, on this occasion.

Owing to unavoidable circumstances, Beaver Dam could not take a part in the meeting as formerly scheduled.

THE ROAD MEETING.

Judge Wells Delivered Sensible Address—Replete With Good Advice.

The better roads meeting held at the Courthouse Monday afternoon was fairly well attended, yet not up to expectations, or what it should have been. C. W. Wells, County Judge of Daviess County, was the principal speaker of the occasion, senator White L. Moss, of Pineville, who was also scheduled to address the meeting, not being able to attend, owing to a conflicting engagement.

Judge Wells' address contained more good points and sensible advice than flights of oratory. In short it went straight to the heart of the road question, an exposition of facts as they exist, a blazing out of the manner in which the people and the Counties must act to secure for themselves improved routes of travel. No better system can be instituted than that of widening, grading, draining and dragging the dirt roads, make the best of what we have and take whatever of State aid we may be able to secure, was advice which if conscientiously followed up will take us out of the mire.

Judge Guffy, of Morgantown, was also present and spoke briefly, stating that Butler County was ready to fill the gap between the Ohio County line and that of Warren County, in the proposed road from Owensboro to Bowling Green.

MT. CARMEL BAPTISTS HAD BIG DAY JULY 4

The Sunday School of Mt. Carmel Baptist church, rendered an all-day program Sunday, July 4, in the presence of a very large and appreciative audience. The forenoon was devoted to the Sunday School and an educational program, while the whole of the afternoon was given over to the rendering of a postponed Mothers' day program.

About fifty of the Sunday School pupils had a part in the exercises and the success of the meeting was largely due to the untiring labor of Mrs. I. S. Mason, Superintendent of the Sunday School and who headed the movement for the all-day celebration of the "fourth" in this fitting manner.

SHOT—ARRESTED AND CONFINED IN JAIL.

Hudson Flenner, whose home is reported to be in Central City, accused of entering the home of Earl Faught, of Rosine, and carrying away two suits of clothing and other articles, late Saturday afternoon, was followed to the depot, by Mr. Faught, who commanded Flenner to stand at attention and upon Flenner's refusal Faught gently turned about one hundred shot into the alleged thief, which brought him up short.

Flenner was arrested by Frank Tichenor, deputy sheriff, and conveyed to Hartford. The Grand Jury very promptly indicted Flenner Tuesday, and thus jail and probably a protracted sojourn at Eddyville, may be added to the misfortune of being shot.

JULY TERM OF OHIO CIRCUIT COURT ON

Docket Light, Grand Jury In Session Two Days, 6 Indictments

The Ohio Circuit Court convened Monday in its regular July term, with an unusually light docket to dispose of. Judge Slack arrived in the forenoon and convened the grand jury which was in session only two days, returning but six indictments, as follows: Willis Hicks, deserting infant child; Hudson Flenner, housebreaking; Rex Arbuckle, breaking into storehouse; Rex Arbuckle, grand larceny; Marshal Jarvis, seduction, John W. Stiles, incest.

Those composing the grand jury were as follows: J. J. Miller, W. D. Shull, Clarence James, J. H. Everly, H. J. Milligan, Clarence Arnold, John W. Wilson, H. G. Daniel, Warren Hopper, Roscoe Bishop, J. B. Henry and E. B. Finley.

The Petit Jury was excused Wednesday until Saturday, the Court being well up with the docket wherein jury trials were up. The following persons compose the Petit Jury: N. D. Fulkerson, Dick Stevens, J. A. Duke, R. B. Canary, Arthur Davis, W. T. Lawrence, W. P. Hoagland, L. E. Everly, Emil Eskridge, James Boling, Q. B. Brown, J. N. Cole, J. A. Renfrow, O. C. Hocker, Jack Hale, Lunie, Maples, E. F. Gabbert, John Lindley, Peter Shown, A. B. Kevill, J. L. Patton, O. D. Carson, E. D. Foreman.

Judge John P. Haswell Jr., of Harbingsburg, N. T. Belcher, of Greenville, E. M. Woodward of Louisville and Ernest Rowe, of Owensboro, were visiting attorneys this week.

COUNTY COMMITTEE ORGANIZED JULY 3

The Ohio County Republican Executive Committee pursuant to call met in Hartford, Saturday, July 3, at which meeting all vacancies were filled and the new committee perfected an organization by the election of W. S. Tinsley Chairman, C. O. Hunter Secretary and Dr. A. B. Riley Treasurer for the ensuing four years.

The session was attended by quite a number, other than members of the committee. Complete harmony and marked enthusiasm over the bright prospects in store for Republicans were particularly noticeable in this gathering of representatives of the Party in Ohio County.

The Committee also selected and recommended the following list of Republicans, to the State Board of Election Commissioners from which to select one member of the County Board of Election Commissioners: Henry Leach, S. T. Barnett, O. R. Tinsley, R. H. Taylor and M. L. Heavrin.

MRS. KIRK ENTERTAINS

Mrs. A. D. Kirk entertained the Black Cat Club at her home last Friday afternoon in honor of her guests, Misses Artie May and Ethella Goettel, of Louisville. Rook was indulged in by those present, at the conclusion of which delightful refreshments were served. Besides the members of the club and the guests of honor the following were present: Mesdames Sidney A. Williams, Clarence and L. S. Igleheart, Misses Kathleen Turner and Mariliss Foster.

ROSINE

Rev. Divine filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday, at the Baptist Church.

Rev. Bishop delivered an interesting sermon at Salem Sunday, on Spiritual Wickedness in high places.

Mrs. Hannah Williams and son and little grandson, Edward Davidson, of St. Louis, are visiting relatives and friends here.

A burglar broke into Earl Faught's home last Saturday and took quite a number of things, the result was Mr. Faught shot him and then took care of him until the Sheriff could take him in charge.

Mrs. Debbie Autry is on the sick list, suffering from an attack of cholera morbus.

School will begin here next Monday. It will be in charge of Miss Alma Simpson this year.

REFUGEES CROWD TURKISH CAPITAL

Nationalists Bombarded By British—Greeks Make Clean-Up

Constantinople, July 5.—The celebration of the Fourth of July in Constantinople could scarcely be called safe and sane. British warships bombarding the Turkish Nationalists and arousing the city in the early morning affording a salute to the American Independence day which was the signal for a general scurrying of allied warships to various points in the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus, where the Nationalists are resisting the allied occupation of the Straits.

In consequence of the insurgents' activities, Constantinople was crowded today with refugees of all nationalities fleeing from the Adriatic side of the Bosphorus. At 4 o'clock this morning the Nationalists raided Beicos, ten miles south of Constantinople on the Adriatic shore of the Bosphorus just opposite Robert College. Another band simultaneously raided Martepi, fifteen miles east of Constantinople on the Sea of Marmora. British and Greek troops as well as dreadnaughts and destroyers were rushed to resist the Nationalists, who did some extensive plundering before they were driven back into the islands.

Beicos is a popular summer place, with a gambling casino, the management of which has not dared to open it this year because of the danger of raids. The summer colony here of some 10,000 persons fled to the water front when the raiders appeared and crowding all the ferries and available steamers trying to escape from the bandits. Many persons paid boatmen $50 to row them the two miles across the Bosphorus. One British officer was captured by the bandits and several Punjabis and many Nationalists were killed and others wounded in the fighting.

Greeks Make Clean Sweep.

Greek troops have swept the country west of Baloukesser clear of Turks as far north as Adramit. They also have landed large forces at Chardek on the Dardanelles. Consequently they expect to eliminate the Turks from the province of Bigha shortly.

Observers who accompanied the Greeks during their attack on Baloukesser and who visited Penderma after the Greek occupation of the city say the Turkish forces offered little resistance, except at Pergama and outside Baloukesser.

The Greek advance was so rapid and unexpected that the Turks were unable to destroy the railway, which with its rolling stock, was left intact. Dynamite had been placed under some bridges but the Nationalists were in so great panic that the charges were not exploded. Their retreat was in such disorder that the Greeks easily inflicted great losses upon them and took many prisoners, with few casualties among them. It was found unnecessary for the Greek forces to shell any town, as all hoisted the white flag when they approached.

Bombardment of the great Mosque at Brussa and destruction of the town by airplane attacks are threatened in an ultimatum received by the governor of Brussa from Vice Admiral de Robeck, British high commissioner at Constantinople, who has been in charge of British landing parties along the coast of the sea of Marmora. The text of the document follows:

"Nationalist forces, in violation of the peace terms have attacked territory occupied by the British on the sea of Marmora and have hindered the landing of forces from the fleet."

"As a consequence of this aggressive attitude against the British and other allies, and in event these attacks continue, it has been decided to bombard the Mosque at Brussa and to destroy Brussa by airplanes."

"To avoid such action I ask you to instruct your subordinates to discontinue their aggressive menace and to prevent our landing wherever landing is deemed necessary."

British prestige has suffered a hard blow in the repulse of landing parties Turkish Nationalists realizing that at various points in Turkish waters, the British have not sufficient troops available to support their marines have been defying the navy all along the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus and the sea of Marmora.

HUERTA GREETED U. S. ON OCCASION OF ANNIVERSARY

Mexico City, July 4.—Provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta today sent the following Independence Day greeting to President Wilson:

"On the anniversary of the independence of the great people whose destinies you guide, I have the honor to send the sincere felicitations of the Mexican people and government, and most fervent wishes for prosperity and a cordial union between the peoples of Mexico and the United States."

QUEEN MARY'S MAIDS WALK OUT ON STRIKE

London, July 4.—Forty housemaids at Buckingham Palace, all under 30, have quit their jobs because Queen Mary refused to increase their wages 10 per cent. The queen was unable to grant their request for the simple reason that she is unable to afford it. Many of the girls were quickly hired by American, Australian and Canadian millionaires who hope to get first-class service from a former palace servant.

The present wages for housemaids at Buckingham Palace are $250 a year, plus $375 for board.

COX CAUSING NO WORRY TO G. O. P.

Chicago, July 6.—Republican chieftains gathered here to formulate plans for the presidential contest today appeared undisturbed at the Democratic choice of a nominee from the home state of their candidate. After arrival of Chairman Will Hays today, work was begun on mapping out the campaign. A series of conferences is being arranged.

Chairman Hays refused to discuss the nomination of Governor Cox. Instead, he confined himself to laudation of the personal qualities of Senator Harding.

The first decision announced was that Senator Harding would remain in Ohio during most of the campaign. The "front porch" plan will be emphasized more than ever, it was said, while an endeavor will be made "to satisfy the local pride of other sections by spreading the word that the senator will listen to reason."

Much satisfaction was expressed at headquarters in the rumor that General Wood and Senator Johnson were to follow the course set by Governor Lowden in supporting Senator Harding.

Among leaders gathered here: Joseph B. Keating, Indiana; Lawrence Y. Sherman, Illinois; Jacob L. Babler, Missouri; A. T. Hert, Kentucky; Fred K. Warner, Michigan, and Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's pre-convention campaign manager.

Work to be done, Mr. Hays explained, is organization incidental to expansion of the activities of the campaign committee.

Republican leaders who attended today's conferences indicated that the League of Nations issue would be accepted in the presidential campaign, with "Democratic inefficiency" as a secondary issue. It was said efforts would be made to keep prohibition problems from becoming a leading issue.

It was the opinion of party chieftains that Chicago would be made the principal headquarters. Clarence B. Miller, secretary of the Republican National Committee, will remain here throughout the campaign and Mr. Hays is expected to spend much of his time in Chicago.

Mr. Hays expects to be in Chicago from seven to ten days and will confer with committeemen and leaders from virtually all of the thirty-two states west of the Alleghenies.

In a statement today he said he was "very happy about the situation."

REX ARBUCKLE IN BAD

Rex Arbuckle, of Beaver Dam, charged with breaking into the drug store of Tom Taylor of that place, was arrested in Central City, Monday night and conveyed to this place early Tuesday morning, by J. R. Wooten, chief of police, of Central City. Arbuckle was indicted Tuesday by the grand jury on two counts, one for house-breaking and one for theft.

COX AND ROOSEVELT CHOSEN AT FRISCO

Long Convention Comes To Close—Fights Staged Were Bitter

Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was finally declared the winner of the Democratic nomination for President on the 44th ballot which ended Tuesday morning in the gray dawn of day after an all-night session of the terrified and thereby running into the eighth day of the convention. It seemed to be a case of who could wear the other or others out, and the Cox forces developed the better staying powers, finally beating McAdoo to the wire, he being the only formidable contender to go the whole distance. Col. Bryan classes the Democratic standard bearer as a Wall Street and Brewery favorite.

Later in the day the nomination for Vice President went to Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. Mr. Roosevelt has served one and a portion of the second term as a member of the New York State Senate, having resigned from that position to accept the position of assistant secretary of the Navy. The duties performed while holding these two positions mark the extent of his services of a public nature. Mr. Roosevelt is but 38 years of age, is a married man, his wife being a Roosevelt and a niece of the late Col. T. R. Roosevelt, while he, himself, was related, distantly, however, to the deceased ex-President.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

Albert Rial says the only time and thing he heard from and of Lee Simmerman while he was attending the Frisco convention was when Sim was caught behind a door with one arm around Bill Bryan in a most loving sort of an embrace and the two were drinking grape juice from the same bottle.

Rev. R. E. Fuqua went down in the country last Saturday preparatory to filling an appointment Sunday, and he left his Lizzy, the last name of which or whom, is Ford, out and uncovered. It rained that night like blazes and she got soaking wet, so on Sunday morning he attempted to crank Lizzy up but to save him, he could not get her to fire. He wore himself down, the Preacher I mean, but there was nothing doing not the least sign of a spark of life could the good brother start scintillating thru Liz. So he borrowed a mule or two and dragged her about over the country, but to no avail, she simply refused to work for the parson on this particular Sabbath A. M. He finally procured a man to hitch a super-six to old Liz and had her hauled about in that manner for a considerable length of time, thinking to limber her up and getting her to harking as of old, but still she continued to adhere to the injunction given in the long ago, that is, to keep the Sabbath day holy and in it do no work. The good man gave up, when an obliging person came along in an automobile and whisked the preacher to his place of appointment, which by-the-way was just about high noon, when his sermon should have been in the "now in conclusion stages." His congregation, or at least a portion of it, was yet waiting upon him. The parson was not so powerfully well acquainted with all of the flock and as he went up the aisle a good brother came down with outstretched and open palm, at the same time saying "my name is 'FORD'". Brother Fuqua's mind immediately reverted to his morning's experience, as he remarked, "If you are as contrary as the one I have been working with during all of the forenoon, I don't want to know you, sir!"

VIRGIL WISE DEAD.

Virgil Wise, for some time past an inmate of the County Alms house, died Tuesday night of bright's disease. The deceased was a brother of Flen Wise and son of Daniel Wise, at one time a family widely known in Ohio County. Burial of the remains occurred at alms farm burying grounds Wednesday afternoon.

FRIDAY.....JULY 2

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President—
WARREN G. HARDING.
For Vice President—
CALVIN COOLIDGE.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, for U. S. Senator, from Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce Marshall Duncan, of Springfield, as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district.
Primary Election, August 7, 1920.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of W. P. Hays, of Nelson County, for Congress from the Fourth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

"We are authorized to announce the candidacy of John P. Haswell, Jr., of Breckenridge County, for Congress
from the Fourth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We can't exactly figure out whether the Democratic convention meant to grow cammels on swamp land or tie a fish out on a desert. We are rather inclined to the opinion that it simply went fishing.

We say that President Wilson kept us out of war, until after his second election. Now, as the Hartford Herald in plain and unvarnished effect,
says, there is not an animal, meaning Republican, to be found in the whole country who will speak one word of truth concerning Woodrow Wilson
etc. We claim the reward if the above statement is true, and if not we must be classed with a lot of prevaricators who were mightily misleading some four years ago.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, did nothing in the U. S. Senate much different from Walsh of Mass., yet Reed was kicked out of the Democratic convention and it looks as though he had been driven out of the party, solely on account of refusing to let Woodrow Wilson screw a ring into his nose and lead him around. Walsh was not kicked out, neither was he treated unkindly, the difference being that Walsh represents thousands and thousands of Irish voters and the untirred were afraid of the big Irishman and what would follow. That, it seems, spelled the difference, but watch Missouri
for an answer.

And if Cox is wet, as many of the local Democrats say he is, what good could he do in Kentucky? Kentucky you know is bone-dry by her own vote recently cast on the constitutional amendment for state-wide and absolute prohibition. There could be no wet sop accue to Kentuckians.
Only a few birds in other states might be enabled to moisten their parched organs in case Cox is elected and able to kick the lid off here and there.

Intoxicants in this state, in so far as the legal manufacture and sale of them may be concerned are things of the past and while the bait offered the thirsty element may be swallowed by a few, we dare say that the offset effect will be about as two compared to one.

Under an act passed by the late legislature Ohio County, like every other County in the state must have a truant officer or an official whose duty it is to see that the regulation requiring the attendance of children between the ages of 7 and 16 years
in the public schools is enforced.
The attendance enforcement officer has been named, Prof. Roy T. Stewart, of Beaver Dam, having been selected by the County Board of Education. This is an important step, one which is bound to result in much good and if rigidly adhered to, must within a few years, blot out all illiteracy in our County and State. Parents and others having charge and custody of pupils or children coming within the age limits affected by this act should be made acquainted with its provisions, and all should heartily join together with a firm and steadfast resolve to, in all reasonableness,
uphold the hands of those in authority concerning the enforcement of the law. Let the patrons and everybody else exercise patience. Good judgment arrived at by calm consideration of the intent and aims of the law and the boy or girl, the young man or woman who can not read, write and do the problems in mathematics arising almost every day of their lives will, in the near future be hard to find and if found at all will not be natives of our good County.

JUNE EXAMINATION RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Eighteen applicants for teachers'
certificates underwent the examination conducted at Fordsville, last month and the returns recently received from the State Board by County Superintendent Howard shows that of the 18, 9 made a grade entitling them to first class certificates and 5
were awarded second class grades,
while four failures were registered.

Miss Loretta Crowder, of Rosine, enjoys the distinction of making the highest average, attaining a percentage of 89 1-12. Those to whom certificates were awarded are as follows: Virgie Mae Burdette, Leatha Brown, Loretta Crowder, Ruth Mercer, Mrs. B. Keene, Hattie Grant, Mary Frances Skinner, Ida Matthews, Mrs. N. B. White, Cliffie Austin, Eva Thomasson, Lessie Austin, Dee Brown
and Emma B. Axton.

BUGGY OVERTURNS— LADY BADLY HURT

Miss Clara Patton, while in town Wednesday, was rather painfully injured near the residence of her uncle, Squire James A. Patton, by the horse which she was driving, becoming a bit unruly and overturning the buggy in which she was seated. Miss Patton suffered the dislocation of one ankle and was otherwise painfully bruised. After her injuries were dressed she was conveyed to her home, near Concord, by Mr. Joe Westerfield.

COX HAS HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL OUT WEST

Candidate Of New York And Ill., Must Look To East For Help

Richard Lee in Louisville Herald.

San Francisco, July 7.—Failure of the administration Democrats to show any symptoms of becoming reconciled to the Cox and Roosevelt ticket nominated by the unruly convention, has awakened the party leaders to the necessity for an intensive campaign in the Far West, where President Wilson's re-election was made possible.

In conference today with National Chairman Homer S. Cummings, the Cox campaign manager, Edmund H.
Moore, pointed out the party peril in the McAdoo-administration apathy.
Mr. Cummings has apparently been made a committee of one to save the wounds of the McAdoo forces who took defeat so hard.

What Mr. Cummings answered to the Moore complaint is not of record.
The McAdooites are making no bones about their attitude. In almost brazen fashion about the hotel lobbies they are respectfully referring the Cox folks to New York and Illinois.

Let The East Do It.

"New York and Illinois furnished
the delegates responsible for the nomination of Governor Cox, now let them furnish the electoral vote to make President Wilson's successor a Democrat," is the substance of the attitude of the disgruntled McAdoo men.

It is virtually the sentiment which was expressed upon the convention floor by Governor Stewart, of Montana, who was forced out of the vice presidential race by the New York-Illinois-Ohio combine which used the second place nomination as a means of simplifying for Tammany.

"Now let New York give the ticket
a 34,000 majority, as Montana did in 1916," said the Montana governor almost beligerently in withdrawing himself from the race in favor of the New York entry, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been considered a possible candidate for senator.

But that outward expression of sentiment from the defeated administration forces who are berating themselves for letting themselves be outgeneraled in the early hours of Tuesday morning by a minority of the convention, does not tell half the story. The story in full with the
"not for quotation" injunction.

"When are the Democrats going to wake up?" was the spirit displayed. "There they sit by and allow their conversion to be dominated by elements who never did have the least concern over the success of the national ticket. This ticket was nominated for the purpose of electing a couple of local tickets.

"How are we going to carry these Western states which helped us re-elect Woodrow Wilson in 1916? Even if we got the electoral votes of New York and Illinois, which we will not,
they would not balance the Western electoral vote, which we can not get with a ticket going into the campaign
with a 'wet' tag upon it."

Evidence that these statements
have not escaped the ears of the Cox
the activities of the temporary mana-gemeners has already come from gers. Even ahead of the Ohio meeting of the national committee they are considering a plan to bring Governor Cox into the West immediately.

Adding to the Democratic troubles
during the day was the statement from Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California—his first word since the Republican National Convention in Chicago—where he was denied the Republican nomination. He minced
no words in denunciation of the Democratic party for "standing by" the Wilson league and he styled it the "duty of all Americans to support the Republican party" as the agency for "preserving our Americanism."

He declared the League of Nations to be the "overshadowing issue" of the campaign to come. He said little about the Republican nominees, Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, but concluded his statement with this declaration to the American people:

"With a candidate standing foursquare upon the platform the issue (League of Nations) leaves those who believe in safeguarding, protecting and preserving Americanism but one choice, and that is to support the Republican party."

With that statement from Senator Johnson Democrats who had been talking so glibly about California's sliding into the Democratic column at the fall election began to accompany their claims with qualifying reservations. In interviews today Gavin Mc-Nab, Democratic leader, admitted that
"it was a hard fight in the West."

AMERICAN NAVY ALONE CAN SAVE SEA FREEDOM

Washington, July 3.—Reliance upon the upbuilding of the American navy as the only means of maintaining 'freedom of the seas' is the Republican answer to the British league of nations pact.

Representative Britton, of Illinois,
thus expresses the Republican idea:

"It is argued by friends of Great Britain that she simply will not allow us to supersede her on the high seas,
and to these I can only reply that England is now completing but one battle cruiser of the Hood type of 41,200 tons displacement with a 31-knot speed, carrying eight 15-inch guns, which is in no direction the equal of our Indiana type of superdread-nought of 43,000 tons and 23-knot
speed, carrying twelve 16-inch guns,
and that during the past 12 months
Great Britain has destroyed the form,
works and keel of at least one sister ship of the Hood type in the interest of economy, and I maintain that until she can pay interest on her bonded indebtedness, at least to her foreign creditors, she would not be justified in going ahead with a costly competitive battleship program, and particularly so not with us, when she realizes fully that we have no designs upon anything she may have.

"While the pride of England may be hurt by her slide into second place
among the naval powers of the world,
she certainly can not hope to successfully compete against us if we are really determined to take the place
we are entitled to on the seas as the world's foremost nation and where American commerce can receive the protection it failed to get prior to our entrance into the World War.

"The phrase 'freedom of the seas'

CHIROPRACTIC!

Vital force is nature's antidote to cure the evils
germs do, and prevent harm from their presence.
Were this not true, the germs taken into the body
through air, food and drink, would soon devastate
the whole race.

Get the spine right as a matter of automatic protection. The death rate goes up in degree as people are unable to resist disease when it crosses their paths.

Days at Horse Branch:—Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

will mean just exactly what it says,
and our supremacy thereon will never justify the control and regulation of the commerce of all nations merely because we have the power to do so as England has done in the past,
much to our disappointment, and at times, humiliation.

"If the naval establishments on the Pacific Coast prior to the last year were but adequate for a few obsolete cruisers and gunboats, they certainly are now thoroughly inadequate to supply the wants of that portion of the American navy which must in the future base on the Pacific Coast
for the protection of American commerce and diplomacy, and it is quite hard to explain just why a great naval base in San Francisco Bay is not now in course of construction.

"Mr. Speaker, some years ago the Helm Commission was appointed by act of Congress to make a thorough study of conditions on the Pacific Coast and to report its findings to Congress.

"Among other things, the commission said that in order to be as effectively operated in the Pacific as in the Atlantic the size of the fleet now existing and authorized makes desirable immediate provision for a marked extension in berthing, docking and repair facilities on the Pacific Coast.

"For strategic reasons it was found necessary and desirable that there should be at least two navy yards of the first class on the Pacific coast of the United States; that the strategic location, physical characteristics, industrial advantages, and defensibility of the navy yard at Pudget Sound are of such character as to make its development as one of these yards not only necessary and desirable but imperative, in view of the requirements of that region for national defense; that the extension of the present navy yard at Mare Island adjacent to San Francisco Bay to meet the requirements of one of two main navy yards on the Pacific Coast is impracticable, due to physical limitations, but that its development within certain restrictions is desirable,

practicable and recommended."

WILL GIVE BETTER TRANSFER SERVICE

On and after July 1, I will be able to give you 100 per cent better transfer service between Hartford and Beaver Dam, for the following reasons:

I will operate nothing but clean,
easy riding cars.

You will not be compelled to wait
while the mail is being loaded.

You will not be compelled to ride
in a mail truck with the dirty mail bags.

I will be able to start promptly on time, as I will have no mail for which to wait.

I appreciate your patronage while I was handicapped by the mail contract, and assure you that it is with pleasure that I announce a better service for you.

Respectfully,
J. E. CURTIS.

ODD GIFTS FOR PRESIDENTS

Many and Various Tributes of Affection Have Been Received by Chief Executives.

Early presidents of the United States received strange gifts during their terms as executives, the strangest of them all being, perhaps, the cheese
sent to Thomas Jefferson, with the admiring inscription, "the greatest cheese
in America for the greatest man in America." It was conveyed to Washington by a six-horse team. Jefferson insisted upon paying for it, and it lasted for a whole year.

Andrew Jackson was the recipient of such gifts as a whole hog from Kentucky, whisky from Pennsylvania, beef from New York and a cheese that weighed half a ton or more from New England. The Blue room in the White House contains the most famous of the gifts received by American presidents, the golden mantle cloth presented to Washington by Lafayette, who received it from Napoleon. In the Green room is the Gobelin tapestry, made by a process which is now a lost art, which the Emperor of Austria gave Mrs.
Grant.

Triumph of Art.

A young artist, out on a sketching trip, came across a living specimen of the "barefoot boy with cheek of tan," properly outfitted with rod and string of fish, and for a consideration induced him to pose for a sketch. In a few minutes there came along a man who would have been spotted instantly by a reasonably sophisticated observer as the head, theoretically at least, of a family. For half an hour he stood watching the artist work,
then burst out in admiring enthusiasm:

"Well, sir, if that isn't wonderful!
Beats all I ever saw!"

"Like the sketch, do you?" the flattered artist responded with a pleased blush.

"Sketch? Oh, that! Yes, it's all right, I guess. What I meant was the way you have managed to keep that boy quiet for so long."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hard to Combat.

A scientist said in a discussion of an anti-tuberculosis campaign:
"Ignorance—ignorance of hygiene—is our worst foe, and ignorance is very hard to combat."

"I am reminded of a story about a scientist who once came upon an old flint-cutter digging flints from chalk.
The scientist, remembering a superstition prevalent among flint-cutters, said:

"Do you think flints grow?"

"I don't think nothin' about it, sir,"
said the old man. "I know they grow."

"Well," said the scientist, "take a flint home, put it on your mantelpiece,
and see how much it grows in a year."

"All right, sir," said the flint-cutter;
"and you do the same with a potato,
and see how much it grows."

Service.

The man wished to spit, but it was a pay-as-you-enter car and he was out of luck. He rang the bell, got up and went to the door of the car. At the next corner the car stopped. The motorman opened the door for the man to get off, but he just spit and returned to his seat.

All the passengers heard the motom-an say: "And still some people have got the nerve to kick on the kind of service we put out."—Indianapolis Star.

er is required, to report weekly the name of the parent, guardian or any other person who has custody of a child of the above age and also the name of the child or children who fail to comply with this law.

It becomes my duty as truant officer of Ohio County to see that the above law is faithfully obeyed. I now request that every one who has charge of a child or children will prepare to place his children in school and see that they attend regularly and thereby save themselves
and me of embarrassments.

It also being a fine on the teacher for failure to report I urge them to be very careful in their report and see that every child who has failed to comply with the above law is placed on their report.

Respectfully,
ROY T. STEWART,
Truant Officer Ohio Co.

To Buy at Loom-End Prices You Must Pay Cash for Your Purchases

Store Will Be Closed Thursday, July 15th, to Mark Down the Stock for the Big Sale

There has been much agitation and speculation in the last sixty days on the high cost of living. A great many stores in the larger towns have put on discount sales, reducing the prices twenty per cent on their entire stock, claiming they are performing a patriotic duty by reducing the high cost of living. The real reason in most cases was, they marked their merchandise too high in the first place, and even after the 20 per cent reduction in price they were still getting as much or more for their merchandise than merchants generally all over the country. In view of this patriotic camouflage, we wish to call your attention again to our policy:

We Have Always Set the Pace In Price

We have always depended on small profits and big volume of business to make money. Any merchant who sells merchandise grade for grade cheaper than we do will soon be looking for a new job. With these facts before you, we want to venture the assertion that the high cost of living can't be materially reduced until the demand along every line is less than the supply. The beginning is not even in sight. Don't be deceived, supply your needs. With liberal reductions in prices you can always buy ahead and save money.

Our Semi-Annual Bargain Feast Will Be Spread On July 16th.

Hundreds are looking forward now, waiting anxiously for the money-saving opportunities it affords. According to our usual custom, we have ransacked every department in our store for odds, ends and broken lots. Every short length that we can give you at less than manufacturer's cost. Besides the accumulation from our regular stock, we have assembled thousands of yards of Loom-End Calicoes, Percals, Gingham, Shirtings, Silks, Scrims, Pajama Checks, Organdies, Voils, White Goods, Etc., which we offer you at less than manufacturer's cost today, and considering the present price levels and the price of merchandise for fall, this sale will be one of the biggest money-saving sales we have ever had.

Remember the Date. Be on Hand the First Day, and come back every day until you are sure you have seen everything we have on the bargain tables. May be you will buy something, and may be you won't, but come and see what's doing.

Ready-To-Wear Department

We prefer not to carry over a Suit, Coat or Dress in this department, and we are pricing them so low that we feel sure of making a clean sweep. They are made in top-notch, new styles, most of them practical for any season of the year.

CIGARETTES

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Clean Up The Incubator Before Putting It Away.

After the hatching season is over, clean and disinfect the incubators, empty the lamps, and carefully store the parts in the machine. Lamps containing oil which are left in their proper place on the incubator for some time after the hatching season is over will cause trouble when it is started again, as the oil tends to work up into the hood.

The incubator should be disinfected once a year, or oftener if any disease is present in the hens or chickens, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Some operators prefer to disinfect their incubators before or after each hatch. A 5 per cent solution of a reliable coal-tar disinfectant or carbolic acid may be used to wash out the machine and to disinfect the egg trays and nursery drawer. If the burlap on the bottom of the incubator is very dirty it may be cheaper to renew than to clean it.

For an incubator of about 3 cubic feet capacity one may pour one-half ounce of formalin, which contains 40 per cent formaldehyde, on one-half ounce of permanganate of potash in a pan in the incubator, which produces a very penetrating gas and thoroughly disinfects the machine. The door of the incubator should be closed just as soon as the liquid is poured into the pan and left closed for 12 hours or longer. Incubators should be well aired before they are used after disinfecting, especially when formaldehyde or any disinfectant, which produces a gas has been used.

Home Canning Necessary This Year To Beat Old H. C. L.

Home canning—of utmost importance during the war—will be just as important this year, according to present indications as they are viewed by the United States Department of Agriculture. The shortage of labor on the farms makes it necessary for the canneries to pay high prices for the commodities that will be canned later in the season. Labor in the canning factories is expensive and difficult to obtain. Everything, from cans to cartage costs, has increased in price, and transportation is slow and more expensive than it was in war times. All this increase must be paid by the ultimate consumer; and there is not even assurance that there will be enough canned products to go around. The solution is home canning.

That sugar is higher in price than it has been hitherto is advanced by some as a reason for canning either less fruit or nothing but vegetables; but unless one intends to give up sweets altogether there seems no good reason for not using canned fruit on account of high-priced sugar. There are few desserts that do not take from one-half to one cup of sugar, and no dessert is more healthful than fruit. It is not necessary to use such thick syrup as was used in the days of plenty. A 10 per cent sirup made of 1 part sugar and 9 parts water will make palatable any of the acid fruits. Such fruits as apples, pineapples, and the like can be canned without sugar. In fact, ordinary glucose or corn sirup may be substituted for sugar in making the sirup. A palatable sirup is made by mixing 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup glucose, and 8 cups of water.

It requires about 7 ounces of sugar for a pint jar. One cup of sugar will make 10 cups of sirup. A pound of sugar will make 20 cups. This last amount will be sufficient for 20 pints of canned fruit. Where the 10 per cent sirup is used the cost of the sugar to can a pint jar is 1 1/2 cents with sugar at 30 cents a pound. It is not so expensive after all.

Farmers Require Accurate Data On Market Conditions.

Traveling by faith rather than by sight has sometimes been recommended as wise policy, but produce growers used to find it frequently and mightily disastrous when they followed it before the establishment of the Crop and Market Reporting Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Of course, a few of them are still following the faith system of growing and marketing because they have not seen fit to use the eyes furnished them by the Government reporting service, and these are still planting, gathering, and marketing at random. But the majority are looking around and ahead, seeing what other sections are doing, finding where any shortage or surplus is likely to be produced, ascertaining special advantages or disadvantages in consuming centers, and generally getting a forecast of the market from crop and other conditions the country over. Thus the more farsighted southern potato growers take into account the volume and probable movement of the northern crop and the amount of the old crop likely to be left over until spring. Even the northern growers may put in a late acreage and top-dress the crop if the general situation suggests a shortage caused by a reduced acreage or by a hard spring frost in parts of the northern territory.

Canning Powders Should Not Be Used In Canning.

In some communities there is a wide-spread use of canning powder. Both boric and salicylic acid are bought from druggists for this purpose. Large quantities of these acids are also sold at a high price under fanciful canning compound names. The United States Department of Agriculture warns against the use of any preserving powder or canning compound. Their use encourages careless and unclean work, and their excessive use may be attended with serious effects upon digestion and health. It is entirely practicable to "put up" fruits and vegetables so that they will keep indefinitely by processing the products with heat. There is no reason for taking the risk of using canning powders.

Parasites Cause Sheep Scab.

The mites which cause common sheep scab are small insectlike parasites, the male measuring when fully grown only about one-fiftieth and the female one-fortieth of an inch in length. They may be seen with the naked eye, particularly if they are placed on a dark background. They occur on any portion of the body covered by wool, but are most common where the wool is thickest; they are the sole cause of the disease. Their destruction is followed by recovery, whereas any treatment which does not destroy them fails to cure scab.

Reports Decrease in Cattle And Hogs In United States

A falling off in the numbers of cattle and hogs in the United States occurred during the first four months of this year, as compared with the like period last year, according to reports of special livestock reporters of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture. In the case of hogs, the births during January, February, March, and April were about 10 per cent fewer than in the same months last year. The marketings have fallen off about 15 per cent; the farm slaughter was about the same in both seasons; but the deaths on farms this year are over 40 per cent heavier than last year to May 1. Taking into consideration both the births and the deaths (from all causes), it appears that there has been a relative reduction of about 5 per cent during the first four months of this year as compared with the trend during the first four months of last year.

The births of calves from January 1 to May 1 were about 22 per cent fewer this year than last year. The net disposition of cattle by marketings, farm slaughter, and deaths was about 9 per cent greater than last year; it appears that there has been a relative reduction of about 6 per cent in total number of cattle as compared with last year during the four months January 1 to May 1.

Hens Eat More in Spring Than In Summer and Fall.

The feeder must use his own judgment in deciding how much grain to give the hens, as the amount of feed which they will eat varies with different pens and at different seasons of the year. They will eat more feed in the spring while laying heavily than in the summer and fall when laying fewer eggs. A fair general estimate is about 1 quart of scratch grains and an equal weight of mash (about 1 1/2 quarts) daily to 13 hens of the general purpose breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or Wyandottes, or to 16 hens of the smaller or egg breeds.

Hogs have been reduced relatively about 5 per cent during the first four months of this year on the farms of the United States as compared with the trend during the first four months of 1919, reports the Bureau of Crop Estimates, and there has been a relative reduction of 6 per cent in cattle during these four months of this year in comparison with the same time last year.

Milk Won't Stay Sweet If Carelessly Handled.

No matter how well milk has been handled up to the time it is delivered to the consumer, it can not be expected to keep well if it is carelessly treated thereafter. It should be poured into pitcher, pan, or other vessel—freshly scalded to remove any bacteria or more spores—and kept in a cool, clean place free from dirt, flies, etc. New milk should never be mixed with old unless it is to be used at once, as the bacteria in the old milk will, of course, be added also, and the mixed milk will not keep as well as the fresh milk alone.

Bacteria are thickest where there is dirt and decay, and milk should therefore be stored only in clean, sweet places. It is safer to keep it covered, to exclude not only dirt and bacteria but also the flavors and odors which it so easily absorbs. If kept at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or less, good milk should remain sweet for 12 hours at least, after it reaches the consumer, and ordinarily for 24 hours or more, dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say. Sometimes in very hot weather housekeepers complain that in spite of all precautions it sours quickly, even in the ice box. This is often due to the fact that the air in the ice box, although it seems cold in contrast with the heat outside, is really not cold enough to check the growth of the bacteria; if a thermometer placed inside registers more than 50 degrees F. the fault is almost surely in the temperature of the ice box, and not in the milk. In cities, where most of the milk comes by morning trains from a considerable distance, it is often impossible to deliver fresh morning's milk in time for breakfast, and that milked the morning before must be given to patrons who insist on an early delivery. They would get their milk from 12 to 18 hours fresher if they would take it in the afternoon instead.

Summer Complaint in Children

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell, of Butler, Tenn., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."

GET RID OF THE NON-LAYING HENS

Lexington, Ky., June 25.—It has been demonstrated in the last two or three years that it is possible to go over your flocks of chickens sometime during the month of August, September and October and cull out the hens that are not laying and in all probability will not lay any large numbers of eggs in a year's time. This work has been developed by the College of Agriculture and it has been found that out of a flock of 50 hens, it is possible to cull as many as 15 from the flock and still get as many eggs from the remaining 35 as from the entire 50. Since that is the case and since feed is an item of considerable expense, farmers should go over their flock of chickens and cull out those that have molted early in the summer because as a rule they are not large producers of eggs. Circular No. 74 has just been issued giving full particulars concerning this work and can be secured upon application to the College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky.

Cut This Out And Take It With You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

UNSETTLED CONDITIONS WILL CHANGE SOON

Washington, July 5.—Business is passing through a period of readjustment and in many instances of depression, the federal reserve board declared tonight in its June review of general business and financial conditions of the country.

"There is, however, every indication that this transition period will not last long—indeed, that the turn toward new conditions has already been taken," declared the board's summary of reports of its agents, who taking the country as a whole, found considerable variation in business conditions.

Reduction in retail prices, begun June, it was said in explanation of the continued large volume of retail trade. The price-cutting movement, the board said, had been aided by the refusal of the public to pay high prices, although the tendency of wholesale prices to maintain current levels was declared to have been a counteracting influence. Except for clothing and shoes, all essential commodities, including foodstuffs, show little indication of reduction, but luxuries and non-essentials in many lines have been "distinctly cut."

Quite generally there is a tendency to settle down to a readjustment basis and to proceed with business "upon a new level of prices and demand," the board asserted. "Control of credit discrimination between nonessential and speculative borrowing are producing some results, although these are reported as developing themselves slowly and gradually. The present price situation is unsettled, and is being closely watched. While some price reporting agencies show a reduction, others show increases."

Although some improvement in transportation was noted, the railroads were said not to have yet overcome the breakdown and "great congestion of goods" was reported to still exist. Frequent complaints of car shortage were reflected by the agents' reports, some indicating a menacing shortage of coal, which, unless remedied, will "seriously interfere with manufacturing." The reports on manufacturing for the month, however, ranged from extreme optimism to equally extreme pessimism.

Possibly the most encouraging factor of the month was the improvement of agricultural prospects, all crops except cotton showing improvement with the seasonable weather, good distribution of rainfall and replanting of crops.

Distinct improvement in the money situation was noted during the month, although it was said that conditions in the financial centers showed little change. Control of credit, it was said, was assisted materially by the advanced interest rate on treasury certificates of indebtedness and the higher rates of discount at federal reserve banks.

Industrial operations during the month of May and the early part of June continued to suffer from uncertainty on account of the labor situation, according to the board. Little relief has been obtained in connection with the labor situation on the farms, the board said, while unrest in some of the basic industries, notably transportation, has been maintained.

Sporadic strikes, in many parts of the country, particularly on the eastern seaboard, have been as a serious deterrent to the movement of goods and the continuance of manufacturing, the board asserted. Employers are generally feeling that further advances in wages present great difficulty on account of the resistance of the public to further increase in price the report said.

The worst condition respecting crops was said to relate to cotton, it appearing from the Atlanta district reports that the poor conditions already reported by the government have been but little improved and that the acreage will be small, with the yield low.

The Atlanta reports, referring to general conditions, said that there was a tendency on the part of the public to refuse to pay exorbitant prices, and that the volume of retail trade had decreased after being stimulated by price cuts.

"There is, on the whole," said the Atlanta report, "no uneasiness concerning the future of business and industry. It is becoming more and more apparent, however, that the process of deflation has begun."

The Richmond district reported "the breakdown of the traffic system and the wave of price cutting in retail stores were the outstanding features." Widespread protest against high prices, it was added, has had an unsettling effect in all lines of trade.

LINER LEVIATHAN BID AT $3,000,000

Washington, June 30.—An offer of $3,000,000 for the giant passenger liner Leviathan and $800,000 for the liner DeKalb were the only ones that had been received when sealed bids on these two former German liners were opened today at the shipping board.

The United States Mail Steamship Company made the offer for the Leviathan upon condition that the board loan $6,000,000 to the company to be applied to reconditioning the vessel and furnish free of charge a pier for the liner during the reconditioning work.

The American Ship & Commerce Company bid for the DeKalb, which it would operate in its passenger service to be inaugurated between the United States and Germany. A check for $80,000 accompanied the bid.

The board reserved decision on the offers for the vessels.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

How can conservative labor expect serious consideration for its demands when its leaders are guilty of such garbling of a party pronouncement as Mr. Gompers and Mr. Woll's report of the Republican plank on labor?

This report alleges that the plank "denies the right to strike."

The assertion is a flat falsehood in effect. The plank does deny the right to strike against the government. Every rational implication from the rest of the plank is recognition of that right.

The report asserts the plank proposes "industrial enslavement and an abrogation of rights as precious as life itself."

If to deny policemen and firemen or other public employees the right to paralyze the functions of government and leave society without protection is enslavement, then indeed the plank declares for enslavement. We do not think intelligent labor is ready to defend any such theory. If it could establish such a doctrine it would endanger its own welfare, for manual labor would suffer as much as any other class from the chaos which must follow the strike against the government.

The plank recognizes collective bargaining and does not deny the right to strike in private industrial controversy. It does deplore the waste of strikes and lockouts and urges the creation of more and better means of voluntary adjustment, of giving employees prompt and impartial means of getting their claims heard and fairly decided, and thus of bringing about the just advancement of labor by the least wasteful methods.

If such proposals are "turning its back on labor," then labor expects something more than any other class of citizens would ask for itself.

But we do not think Mr. Gompers and Mr. Woll express the real opinion of the wage earner on this plank. Mr. Gompers is a partisan Democrat, who has been highly honored by the present administration. His report shows that he cannot be fair or is not willing to be fair toward the Republican platform. There are hundreds of thousands of wage earners who are not partisan Democrats, who, in fact, in party matters, are Republicans, and these we believe will resent Mr. Gompers' distortion of the Republican plank on labor, which expresses views any fair-minded wage earner may respect and approve.—Chicago Tribune.

Suffrage Ratified by G. O. P. in 29 States.

There is no question about the ratification of the nineteenth amendment as soon as one more Republican State has a session of its Legislature, but in regular course that will not be until next January. To the credit of the Republican party stand twenty-nine ratifications, while Democratic States have ratified to the number of six only. Evidently the nineteenth amendment is and will continue to be a strictly Republican movement, even should the final thirty-sixth State be Democratic, which is not likely. The women have depended upon Republican States and must continue to do so. Two such States are ready to ratify just as soon as their legislatures are in session, but unless they are called into special session it will not be until after the November election. That is something that must not be permitted to happen. Pressure should be brought by Republicans from all over the United States upon the Governors of Connecticut and Vermont, to induce them to issue calls for special sessions. Otherwise, in spite of the twenty-nine States which have acted, the Republican party, having it in its power to supply the thirty-sixth State and refraining from doing so, will be held responsible by the women for a delay that ought not to occur.

Special sessions should be called in time to complete ratification early enough to permit all women to register for the November election. They have already been kept out of the presidential primaries and in many States will be excluded from the local primaries. If they fail to register they will also be denied the right to vote in November even if the amendment is previously adopted. Having thus far been the party of suffrage, having supplied four-fifths of the ratifications, the Republicans should complete the job and make the proportion five-sixths.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

FARMERS UNDERPAID LOSSES ARE GREAT

Washington, July 5.—Figuring on a business basis, the farmers of this country ran behind $6,481,787,000 last year, according to an investigation made by the Farmers' National Council, the results of which were made public today.

"Few farmers," says the council, "and fewer city people appreciate that agriculture is primarily labor, and underpaid labor at that. A study of the value of farm products for 1919, of the farmers' expenses for labor, interest on investment, freight, taxes, fertilizers, seeds, feeds, machinery and depreciation, show that if the farmers had allowed themselves and their wives and children a decent minimum wage of $1,000 a year for full time they ran behind the game on last year's work about $6,481,787,000."

"The total value of crops at the farm last year was $16,025,000,000. The total value of animals and animal products was $8,957,000,000, a total of $24,982,000,000."

"The farmer is accustomed to thinking of himself as only a working man and not as a manager entitled to a manager's profits and returns. There are about 6,500,000 farms in the country, and if we estimate the average number of members of the farm family on each farm devoting most of their time—eight hours a day—to farm work, the total number of persons employed was 13,000,000."

"This is certainly conservative, for the farmers' wives give much of their time to the farm work in addition to household work, and one or two or all the children of most farmers' families also work on the farm most of the time. Unfortunately many children begin working when six or seven years of age, particularly in the south."

"We estimate that the total cost and expenses of production on all the farms of the country last year were $31,463,787,000 of which the following are the chief items:

"Labor of farmers, farmers' wives and children, $13,000,000,000; seasonal hired labor $5,600,000,000; interest on farm values at 6 per cent, $4,674,000,000; freight paid for carrying farm products, $600,000,000; taxes, $400,000,000; seeds, $723,000,000; feeds, $621,000,000; interest on farm indebtedness (in excess of 6 per cent.), $12,000,000; depreciation of implements and machinery at 10 per cent, $211,725,000, a total of $31,469,787,000. It is unfortunate that farmers have not held their services at a higher price. Farmers who manage farms are entitled to fully as big money returns as the managers of other similar businesses, but they often receive less wages than many unskilled workers, who themselves are not getting a living wage and we should count their time worth at least $2,000 a year."

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard recommended very highly, so began to use it. It cured me. I keep it in the house all the time. It is the best liver medicine made. I do not have sick headache or stomach trouble any more." Black-Draught acts on the jaded liver and helps it to do its important work of throwing out waste materials and poisons from the system. This medicine should be in every household for use in time of need. Get a package today. If you feel sluggish, take a dose tonight. You will feel fresh tomorrow. Price 25c a package. All druggists.

THEDFORD'S

ONE CENT A DOSE

Q 72

THE DESTROYER

By Ernest C. Wilson.

"He will be a great man some day," said his mother, proudly smiling, as her tiny son batted his toys to pieces.

"I think he will be a botanist," she said a little later, when he despoiled her flower garden by pulling apart the tender rose blooms she had fondly nourished.

"There is nothing squemish about him. He will be a great surgeon," she exclaimed delightedly, as he curiously watched the writhings of the mutilated bugs and small creatures which fell into his hands, at the age of fourteen.

"My son is not cruel. He is merely zealous for knowledge," she denied, when she learned of his atrocious experiments at medical college.

"Suffering is necessary to every advance in science," the mother declared, when her man-grown son sought human subjects for his skill.

"If animals will not suffice, the human unfit must go," and so to the number of God's Mockers one more was added. Upon the record of suffering which His dumb endure at the hands of men, another long black mark appeared.

"Other children may need discipline, and careful direction of destructive energy, but my son is different," is the mother's cry. She was proud of her son's advance in science. "He was always a spirited boy. Discipline would have crushed his genius. He is in the lead of his profession, and I have helped to place him there."

GREAT DAM FOR ARKANSAS.

Across the White river at Cotter, Ark., a dam is under construction which will make possible the development of 100,000 horsepower from hydro-electric generating plants. It is estimated that the giant project will cost $15,000,000 and for grandeur and height it will rank among the first on the continent. Extensive industrial developments are expected in the White river valley as a result of the great power.

Summer Complaint Quickly Relieved.

"About two years ago when suffering from a severe attack of summer complaint, I took Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it relieved me almost instantly," writes Mrs. Henry Jewett, Clark Mills, N. Y. This is an excellent remedy for colic and diarrhoea and should be kept at hand by every family.

"Please hurry," said the wife impatiently to her husband. "Have you never buttoned a dress behind before?"

"No," replied her husband also impatiently. "you never had a dress that buttoned behind."
